Pensioners warned after common strike

Aaron's on the run for charity

ONE OF our employees is going to make news of his own.

Aaron Castell, who works in the planning department at the Weekly News, aims to swim, cycle and run his way across London to raise money for two charities.

Aaron is taking part in the London Triathlon on August 10 and will compete against more than 300 other athletes on a three-leg course.

He will begin with a 1.5km swim at the Victoria Docks before hopping onto a bike for a 40km cycle then running a further 10km before crossing the finishing line in the ExCel Centre in the Docklands.

Any money raised will go to both the Teenage Cancer Trust appeal, which hopes to raise £1m, and the St Clare Hospice, in ELDERLY people are being warned to be on their guard after a spate of incidents where pensioners have been targeted.

Two men were arrested last week and have since been remanded in custody after an attempted distraction burglary at the home of a frail 97-year-old Haverhill woman. Police have praised neighbours who alerted them quickly and passed on a vehicle registration number.

Two pensioners have since come to the Weekly News to warn others about would-be thieves and common. One was left £400 out of pocket with an uncompleted paintwork job, and the other foiled repeated telephone calls asking for her bank details.

Inspector Andy Smith, Haverhill sector commander, said the information provided in the distraction burglary case was just the kind of help police were looking for from the public.

He said: "I don't think Haverhill is any worse than any other area of Suffolk, but the advice I would give is for older people to be on their guard. If there is any concern at all that they have regarding people who come to the door, don't answer it and report anything suspicious to us straight away."

Great-grandmother Doris Jones, 79, of Jay Close, Haverhill, said she believed the same man had telephoned her on three consecutive nights to say that the warranty on her television set had run out and she needed to pay another £6 a month.

The man asked for her bank details, but she refused to give them over the phone and said she would call into the shop which she hires her television from. When she did so Mrs Jones was told they knew nothing of the calls.

Help for patients, with complements

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PATIENTS and their carers are benefiting from a range of treatments – from reflexology to Indian head massage – and Pam Currie's mission in life is to make sure that even more can do so.

Pam has worked at St Nicholas Hospice in Bury St Edmunds for more than 15 years and was involved in setting up the complementary therapy team there 13 years ago.

Her team includes Sue Firth, whose role is to visit patients in the community who are unable to travel to the hospice.

Their work is just one of the aspects of the role of the hospice which could be boosted by the Weekly News St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, which aims to raise £40,000 to provide services for patients in the Haverhill area in their own homes, instead of having to travel to the hospice.

Pam previously spent five years in the RAF, working as a teleprinter operator in Singapore, where she met her husband. She then moved to Suffolk when he was stationed at RAF Honington.

She started working at the hospice as a nursing assistant shortly after it opened and she then began her training in complementary therapies.

Therapies offered include massage, aromatherapy, reiki and acupuncture. Special days are provided at the hospice, including "Time for You" days, when ladies can enjoy beauty therapies as well as doing art work such as painting silk scarves. There is also a "Gentleman's Tonic Day" and rest and relaxation sessions for carers.

Pam said: "These complementary therapies have come a long, long way since the early 1980s when they were considered to be wacky. They are now recognised as being advantageous. They are not alternatives, they are complementary to medical treatments like radiotherapy and chemotherapy.

"Most hospices offer some form of complementary therapies now. A lot of our patients are quite anxious and distressed, have problems sleeping and in pain. We choose a therapy that will help them and that they can have with treatments such as chemotherapy.

"It is mostly to relax them, to help them with anxiety and stress. It is about TLC, they can go to sleep, or cry or talk about anything they want. It is a nice one-on-one time with someone who is not going to stick a needle in them."

A team of three volunteers helps with the work and Pam is hoping to set up teaching sessions so therapists within the community can learn to work in palliative care and hopefully reach more patients.

Anyone interested in becoming a volunteer to attending a teaching session should contact Pam on (01284) 766133.

How can you help?

WE CANNOT reach our target without your help – so the Weekly News wants to hear from anyone who is organising fund-raising discos, barbecues, dances or other events to boost the hospice appeal.

Tell us what you are planning and we will help publicise your event to make sure it is a success and raises as much money as possible.

If you already have an event organised, why not pledge all or part of the proceeds to the appeal and benefit from the extra publicity to help a really good cause.

A special bank account has been set up at Barclay's Bank. Cash or cheques can be paid in directly to the St Nicholas Hospice at Home Appeal, sort code 201612, account number 80981842.

An on-line donations page has also been created at www.justgiving.com/haverhillweeklynews, which also gives details of how to donate by text, and you can donate by phone on (01284) 715582, at the hospice shop in High Street, Haverhill, or the Weekly News office in Queen Street, Haverhill.

Fresh look at office site

COUNCILLORS have agreed to carry out a site inspection after a plea by a pensioner not to allow an office building he regards as "an eyesore" to remain behind his home.

Members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee were recommended to approve a retrospective application for the 30 sq ft modular office building to remain for two years behind The Limes in Mill Road, Kedington. But after hearing the arguments put forward by John Swan, who lives at nearby Limeridge House, it was agreed to carry out a site inspection. Mr Swann said he had objected to the building as soon as it went up because of its size. He was also taking action against the owner for £1,700 worth of damage he alleged was caused to the driveway leading to the office, which is his property.

Mr Swan said: "It is an eyesore. It is a perfectly utilitarian building which would be fine on a building site, but not right behind your house."

A report to the committee said the applicant designed shoes and his wife ran the Chinese export business, both working from home. Samples from the business had been taken over their home and they needed a temporary building until they could find a permanent one.

The inspection will be held on August 21.

Bat attack man is fined

A MAN who attacked his step-brother with a rounders bat has escaped an immediate prison sentence, but must pay £600 compensation to his victim.

Christopher Walters, 31, had admitted at an earlier hearing attacking Simon Oakley with the 18-inch bat at the Dial-a-Pizza premises in Haverhill. His case was adjourned for pre-sentence reports and magistrates warned him that he could face jail.

However, when Waters, of Minerva Close, Haverhill, returned to Bury Magistrates Court last Thursday he received a 12-week prison sentence, suspended for 18 months, and was also ordered to do 130 hours of unpaid work.

Magistrates ordered that the rounders bat should be confiscated and destroyed.

At the earlier hearing magistrates were told that there was animosity between the two men after Mr Oakley and Water's ex-girlfriend started living together.

Mr Oakley was left with bruises on his torso and head after the attack. Waters also reversed into Mr Oakley's car as he left, causing around £500 damage.

Students have a ball at prom

STUDENTS put on their glad rags and arrived in some very swanky limos as end-of-term prom-fever hit Haverhill. Stretch limos were lined up outside the arts centre for the event, while others arrived on tandems, motor bikes and sports cars. The prom was hailed a huge success, with more than 160 Year 11 students attending. John Knighton, deputy headteacher at Samuel Award Arts and Technology College, attended the evening as his last big school event before he retires after 30 years at school. He said: "We are very proud that our young people took pride in presenting themselves in fabulous ball gowns, dinner suits and making an entrance in an array of limousines, stretch Hummers, tandems, motor bikes and sports cars to name a few modes of transport. "The students were a credit to their families, to the school and the community."

"Families and friends stopped traffic in the High Street and were very complementary about how in just a few weeks the students have become responsible and mature young people. "The event was another great success and everyone really enjoyed themselves." Student Nicola Mears said "Everyone looked stunning in their gowns and tuxedos - I did not recognise some of my friends!"

Governors needed to keep schools on track

By Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

A HEADTEACHER - whose school is due to close by 2010 - wants more people to step forward as school governors to safeguard the education of future generations.

Parkway Middle School, along with Chalkstone and Castle Hill schools in Haverhill, is set to close in the next two years as part of an education shake-up in Suffolk. The move will see all middle schools in the county disappear and a two-tier system brought in to match most of the rest of the country.

Ian Kearns, head at Parkway, is now urging more people to stand as school governors, not just at his own school but also at primary and upper schools, which will be expanded to cater for more pupils from a wider age-range.

He said staff were already working closely with other schools at both levels to ensure a smooth transition to the two-tier system and to plan the kind of schools people want to see in the town. Staff members were being offered training opportunities so they can stay in Haverhill and become part of the new school structure.

Mr Kearns said: "A lot of schools in Haverhill don't have a full governing body and we feel at the time of reorganisation it is essential that we get as representative a group of people as possible in every single school, so that when this takes place we have the best circumstances we possibly can for the children in the system today, and in the future."

"By September 2011 both colleges in Haverhill are going to have to take 600 new children. We have to work together to make sure that they have a continuity of curriculum throughout their educational life. We are already starting to integrate the schools to make sure this is done as smoothly as possible."

"I think we have to see this as an opportunity to achieve the very best we possibly can to give our children the proper life chance they deserve."

Bob Shepstone, who has been a school governor at Samuel Ward Arts and Technology College for 20 years, including 16 as chairman, said he hoped that local employers would encourage their staff to take on the role of governors.

He said: "I would not have been doing it for 20 years if I did not enjoy it and it is the kind of thing that tends to bite you once you start doing it, but you don't have to be tied up every minute of the day."

Gareth Jones is a staff governor at Parkway and believes his role has been useful in his work as a teacher.

He said: "It is useful to be able to take information back to the staff so that they feel involved. It is also helpful to know a bit more about the school's finances and how it operates."

Governors do not have to have children at a school. Anyone interested can contact Mr Kearns on (01440) 704599.

OAP targeted by con artists

Mrs Jones said: "It was plausible because I have only had my television just over a year, but I said I don't give me bank details over the phone. I said I did not feel well enough to deal with it so I went down to the shop and they said to ignore it."

"I have had a stroke and the least little thing worries me so I don't need all this. I am sure they were just after my bank details and I am sure I am not the only one."

"I just want to warn others so that nobody gets caught out."

A 67-year-old Haverhill pensioner also wanted to warn people after work on her home had not been completed.

She said: "I have had every excuse going and I have now resigned myself to the fact that he is not going to finish the work and I will probably just lose the money."

"I am on pensioner credit and I am devastated by the way I have been treated. I just want to warn others so that they don't get caught out like I did."

Graham Crisp, a principal Trading Standards officer for Suffolk, advised people not to give bank details over the phone, unless they were certain who they were dealing with.

They should get a written quote detailing the work to be done, prices and completion dates and try to avoid paying a deposit, particularly a large one.

Mr Crisp said: "These things do happen and sadly people often do lose a lot of money. We advise people not to deal with traders who come knocking on their door and to use reputable traders."

■ CROSSING THE CHANNEL . . . Jan Wade and rowing partner Steve Gough.

A WOMAN who battled breast cancer has raised around £4,500 for charity by rowing across the English Channel.

Jan Wade, from Wickhambrook, originally intended to support the cross-Channel effort by helping with sponsorship and publicity. But she ended up crewing one of the two-person kayaks which made the 20-mile crossing at the weekend in aid of Odyssey, a charity which organises outdoor activity programmes for people with cancer.

Mrs Wade previously took part in one of Odyssey's five-day courses with her husband Bruce, who later died from cancer.

She offered her support when she heard that Steve Gough, chairman of the Odyssey trustees, was planning to row a canoe across the Channel. "I told Steve I'd do anything I could to support the project," said Mrs Wade, 52.

But it was only in April that she agreed to take part herself in one of the two two-person kayaks which accompanied Mr Gough.

She said: "It went very well. Everyone got there safely and we did it in just over five hours, which was quicker than we expected. It was quite arduous but it was a fantastic feeling to arrive in France."

Because the trip went so well the rowers were able to have lunch and a swim in the sea before catching the ferry back to Britain.

Donations can still be made by visiting her web page at www.justgiving.com/janwade1

Flip and grind at skaters weekend

FLIPS, grinds, scratching and street art will take centre stage at a special event organised to give young people the chance to showcase their talents.

Skate Jam 2008, which takes place at Olding Road in Bury St Edmunds on Sunday, follows the huge success of the first event of its kind in the area last year, which attracted more than 500 young people from across the borough. It has been organised by St Edmundsbury Borough Council to give young people the chance to both show off their skills and try their hand at something new.

During the packed afternoon,

DJs will be spinning discs and a professional dance tutor will be holding break-dancing sessions.

Meanwhile, on the ramps of the skatepark itself, prizes will be given out to skateboarders, inline skaters and BMX riders. The free event is open to all ages and will take place between noon and 7pm.

Church plan wins support

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

PLANS to extend a church within the grounds of a 13th Century priory have been approved – despite concerns raised about the flood risk and accusations of double standards by one councillor.

Clare Priory is a Grade 1 listed building within the conservation area of Clare. Plans to add a single storey extension to the south eastern side of the church, which will create space for an extra 240 seats, has been approved by members of St Edmundsbury Borough Council's development control committee.

But Cllr Peter Stevens said he was concerned that there was no assessment of the flood risk in the report presented to members and accused the committee of operating double standards by "rolling over" to allow the project to go forward.

He said: "In Cavendish we have been battling with the Environment Agency for years to get development allowed. We cannot operate double standards like this."

Rona Hopkinson, senior planning officers, said the guidelines supplied by the Environment Agency had been applied to the plan, which showed no grounds for objection, and late clarification had been received from the agency that this was the case.

Cllr Jane Bone, from Clare, said the priory itself, which was close to the church, had been "seriously" flooded many times, but she said this would have been taken into account in making the application.

She agreed that the church needed more space for its growing congregation and she said it was better to approve completely different that to try and match what was there already.

Part of the priory's grounds run into Essex, and Braintree District Council recommended that the plan be refused as it was little different to a previous one in 2007 which was withdrawn.

The council argued the extension would dominate the existing building, that its modern materials did not "harmonise" with its surrounds.

Clare Parish Council and the Clare Society both supported the scheme, but the Society for the Protection of Ancient Buildings objected on grounds that the extension would have a serious impact on the fabric of the existing building.

Cllr Trevor Beckwith said he was more concerned about the materials being used and described the scheme as "an absolute disaster".

Cody takes flight with top award

A HAVERHILL teenager has walked away with the Bury Chamber of Commerce and Industry shield for his engineering studies at West Suffolk College.

Codey Leatherman, 19, won the large silver shield, which is awarded to the best student on the National Diploma in Engineering who has progressed to a higher education engineering course.

Codey was unable to attend the awards ceremony at the recent presentation at St Edmundsbury Cathedral, so his mum, Karen Shurety, went along to accept it on his behalf from Rick Wildridge, chairman of Bury St Edmunds Chamber of Commerce and Industry.

Codey, of Rutland Court, Haverhill, achieved three distinctions in his course after starting his career at the college in 2006.

After passing his GCSEs and AS levels he enrolled on the full-time National Diploma course in electronics.

Codey was offered two apprenticeships and decided to accept an avionics apprenticeship at Marshall Aerospace in Cambridge where he will continue his education.

Five remanded on drugs charges

FIVE people accused of playing a part in a major drugs operation to supply cocaine to the south-east of England have been remanded in custody by magistrates.

They were arrested following a series of dawn raids in Cambridgeshire, Suffolk and north London last week, where weapons, drugs – including cocaine, cash and vehicles were seized.

Appearing before magistrates in Bury St Edmunds were: Ryan Eggo, 21, of Church Close in Whittlesford; Emma Limpus, 30, of Cleves Road, Haverhill; Matthew Dixon, 38, of Elmhurst Close, Haverhill; and Paul French, 31, of Gannet Close, Haverhill, who are all jointly charged with conspiring to supply class A drugs.

Limpus and French are also charged with supplying amphetamines.

Sean Kimber, 31, of Lime Kiln Close, Peterborough, is also charged with conspiring to supply class A drugs.

Kimber and French made no application for bail and were remanded in custody when magistrates sent their case to Ipswich Crown Court, where a preliminary hearing will be held next Tuesday.

Limpus, the mother of a nine-week-old baby, Dixon and Eggo all made unsuccessful bail applications.

■ A 26-year old female from Haverhill, arrested on suspicion of conspiring to supply class A drugs has been released on police bail, to return to Bury St Edmunds police station on Thursday, August 21.

A 43-year old man from Whittlesford and a 41-year-old woman from Whittlesford, arrested on suspicion of money laundering, have been released on police bail to return to Parkside police station in Cambridge on Tuesday, September 9.

Hair pull man guilty of assaulting partner

A MAN who pulled his partner backwards down a flight of stairs by her hair has been convicted of assault.

Luke Thompson, 27, had denied inflicting actual bodily harm on Keron Wells at the house they shared in the Haverhill's Quendon Place. But after a three-day trial at Ipswich Crown Court and more than four hours of deliberations the jury found him guilty.

Judge Neil McKittrick, who had presided over Thompson's trial at Ipswich Crown Court, told him he would be remanded in custody until he is sentenced later this month.

The court heard that Thompson, now of Cangle Junction, Haverhill, had two previous convictions for assault, both involving disturbances outside a public house.

During the trial the jury heard claims by Thompson that he had never intended to harm Ms Wells and had only been trying to grab a pair of scissors with which she had threatened to shred his clothes.

But giving evidence, Ms Wells said he had been acting aggressively when he arrived at the house on the morning of November 18 last year after she told him he could not take their two-year-old daughter out.

Ms Wells said as she tried to go upstairs Thompson had pulled her backwards by her hair from four or five steps up. She fell and struck her head on a table, suffering a broken nose and concussion.

She said: "I couldn't get up. Everything was really dark when I opened my eyes. I couldn't get my body to do what I needed to do."

She eventually managed to get out of the front door and a neighbour called the police.

Thompson said he was trying to stop Ms Wells cutting up his clothes when she lost her balance and fell. He denied having intended to inflict her harm.

Missed always.

David, Michele, Danielle & Lewis

In loving memory of our dearest mum and gran Barbara BENNETT

*We think of you in silence,
We often speak your name,
But all we have are memories,
And your picture in a frame.
Your resting place we visit,
And put flowers there with care,
But no-one knows the heartache,
As we turn and leave you there.*

Lots of love always and forever, Jane, Brian, Hayley, Jenna and Lee

CLARK Kenneth (Ken)

Died July 19th, 2001.

Seven years have passed since we lost you. Memories of happier times are remembered and we wish you were still with us. There's not a day goes by when there's not a thought of you, a piece of music or places we visit or your wonderful sense of humour that we all loved. The hurt we feel never goes away, we just learn to live with it.

Loved and missed. Forever in our hearts, Jean, family and friends

Pair held over theft

A FATHER and son accused of a distraction burglary at the home of a 97-year-old woman in Haverhill have been remanded in custody by magistrates.

John Riley, 40, of Calder Court, Cambridge, and his son Francis Maughan, 23, of Hanson Court, Cambridge, appeared before Bury St Edmunds magistrates Court, last Friday, jointly charged with burglary at Chalkstone Way on Wednesday, July 9.

Riley is also charged with driving while disqualified, with no insurance and no MOT.

Magistrates ruled that the case must be dealt with at Ipswich Crown Court and remanded the pair in custody until the next hearing on September 19.

Both applied for bail, but magistrates turned down their applications on grounds that they might not return to court and could commit further offences.

Thieves break in

A HANDBAG, a digital camera, two mobile phones, a purse and a wallet were stolen when a house in Haverhill was broken into after thieves forced a window.

The burglary happened at Hamlet Road between 10.55pm on Tuesday, July 8 and 6.15am the following morning.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to DC Jacqui Mumford at Haverhill CID on (01284) 774100.

OAP's appeal to enforce dog law after pet is 'ripped apart'

■ PARTY TIME... members of the 6th Haverhill Brownies celebrate the group's 40th birthday.

Brownies mark a milestone

BROWNIES have been celebrating the 40th anniversary of their troop. The 6th Haverhill Brownies has been running since 1968, and current members celebrated with a party – playing games, eating party food and tucking into a birthday cake.

The unit was launched four decades ago at the Leiston Centre and now meets at the youth centre, next to Haverhill library, on Tuesdays during term time, from 5.15-6.45pm. Julie Rex, who was the first 6th Haverhill Brownie Guider, went along to meet the Brownies and spoke to the girls about the way uniforms and badges have changed. The autumn term starts on September 9. For further information about the group, contact Pearl Fraser on (01440) 707541 or Sarah Hawes-Spillet 710305.

AN 85-YEAR-OLD widow who watched her pet dog being mauled to death by two Rotweillers wants laws barring dogs being let loose on Haverhill's recreation ground enforced.

The heartbroken pensioner, who asked not to be named, was on a pathway next to her bungalow, close to the recreation ground, when she saw two dogs escape from their home and rip her little dog apart. Her son took the animal to the vet, but they were unable to save the badly-injured dog.

Since the incident, earlier this month, the woman says she is too scared to go outside, fearing she will see the two dogs again, and she now wants to warn others about them.

She says her life is "at a standstill" and she is being prescribed sleeping pills.

"All I see every moment is the little dog being ripped apart and hearing him screaming."

Before the incident, the woman had written to Richard Whitehead, principal environmental health officer for St Edmundsbury Borough Council, about her concern that dogs without leads were being allowed to run in the park.

She wrote: "I myself am severely crippled in my legs, but without any hassle from loose dogs, I am still able to take my dog for a walk every day. He has been hassled on two occasions, and as he too is getting old he is also getting nervous."

"Surely it would be to the benefit of all for the animals to be kept under control, and seeing that some of the dogs might be dangerous, it might well in fact save a serious accident, especially to a young child who might unwittingly pet an animal."

Diane Taylor, 74, says she has been spat and sworn at since she started her campaign for restrictions on dogs being let off their leads at the Camps Road recreation ground.

She said while a by-law has been passed – stating that dogs should be on a lead between 9am and 5pm – this did not go far enough and was not being enforced.

Mrs Taylor said: "Those vulnerable in society, the elderly and children, seem to come after the needs of dogs able to roam freely on the recreation ground."

A spokesperson for the borough council said: "The council has received no complaints about dog behaviour on Haverhill recreation ground since dogs on leads between 9am and 5pm daily was introduced last year, following public consultation."

"The council dog warden monitors the recreation ground and works with the public to identify problems."

"The council and the police are investigating a separate incident when two dogs escaped from a house and killed a small dog that was returning home with its owner after a walk."

"There is no evidence of a direct link between the dogs on lead policy and this unhappy event."

Clampdown on car crime

POLICE have launched a major campaign to tackle vehicle crime in Haverhill following a spate of thefts.

Between January and June there were 111 thefts from motor vehicles in the town, and more than 200 vehicles were damaged.

Inspector Andy Smith, Haverhill sector commander, said: "This is a significant amount of offences, and an operation is now ongoing in the town to help owners keep their vehicles more secure and less inviting for criminals to break into, and to catch those individuals who are committing vehicle crime."

Additional officers are patrolling areas where the number of thefts has been particularly high, and advice will be given to vehicle owners where items have been left on display inside.

Inspector Smith said simply taking valuables out of vehicles made them less attractive to thieves.

"A criminal is far more likely to target your car if they can see something inside that they can use or sell. That includes indicators of items, such as chargers, adaptors and cradles. A thief will break into a vehicle to search for the sat nav or mobile phone the accessory belongs to.

"By removing everything of value when you leave your

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

vehicle, it will be of much less interest to the opportunist.

"Insecurities are also a problem, especially in the summer when the weather is warm. No matter how tempting it may be to leave a window or sunroof open, don't – it also makes it tempting for a criminal who needs to put no effort into getting into your car."

If you cannot remove property from your car, lock it in the boot. To make sure property is marked the Safer Neighbourhood Team will hold a number of car crime clinics across Haverhill over the summer to postcode mark items and give out advice.

Items with serial numbers, such as mobile phones, sat navs and stereos, can be registered at www.immobilise.com, a national database which is used by most police forces, including Suffolk.

Officers will be encouraging people to use their garage to store their vehicles securely at night.

Insp Smith said: "We find many people either own or rent garages, but don't put their cars inside.

"We will be working with communities this summer to clear out garages and make them available for keeping cars safe."

Home raiders' bumper haul

A LARGE quantity of goods and some cash was stolen by burglars who broke into a house by forcing a window.

The break-in happened at Elmdon Place, Haverhill between 8.30pm and 10.30pm last Thursday. Items stolen included cash, an iPod, a digital photo frame, jewellery, golf clubs, an Xbox, winter sports equipment, a digital camera, a computer monitor and a purse.

Calls in relation to this incident should be made to Pc Elaine England at Haverhill Police on (01284) 774100 or Crimestoppers on 0800 555 111.

Meet your local officers

SAFER neighbourhood teams in Haverhill will be meeting the public to discuss policing issues in the town several times over the coming month.

They will be at the Havebury Housing offices, in Manor Road this Friday, and Friday, July 25, from 2pm-3pm.

They will also be at the Clements Resource Centre coffee morning next Monday from 9.30am and at the same time again on Monday, July 28.

They will also visit the Haverhill Arts Centre on Friday, July 25 from noon to 2pm.

Choices for job seekers

MORE than 50 jobs were on offer at a jobs fair in Haverhill last week.

Local job seekers had the chance to apply for a wide range of positions thanks to the event, which took place at Haverhill Jobcentre Plus in the High Street.

Representatives from Addenbrooke's Hospital, KFC and the prison service were on hand to discuss recruitment with interested applicants. There were also vacancies across a range of sectors, including retail, clerical and administration, as well as industrial work.

Peter Davidson, district marketing manager for Jobcentre Plus in Suffolk, said: "We have a great selection of jobs that are full and part time, temporary and permanent. There are day, evening and weekend shifts available, and these positions would suit anyone looking for work, whether they are parents looking to work around school hours, students looking to earn a little extra cash or those looking for permanent employment in one of the various occupations.

"Staff at Jobcentre Plus are committed to working with employers in the town to help get more local people back into employment, therefore filling vital positions with local employers."

Pedal power to care for our heroes

VOLUNTEERS will be pedalling through the night without leaving their home town this weekend as they take part in a gruelling 24-hour static bike ride.

The marathon effort is in aid of Help for Heroes, a charity which raises funds for rehabilitation care for wounded British soldiers. Two static bikes will be set up on Haverhill's Market Square and pedalling starts at noon on Saturday and finishes at noon on Sunday. Haverhill mayor Les Ager will open the event and more than 40 local people have volunteered to take turns on the bike, collect money from the passing public and keep their fellow cyclists as comfortable as possible.

Local soldier Richard Mead, currently serving with the Royal Corps of Signals, is leading the event and said: "The response from local people has been absolutely fantastic. We're so pleased because Help for Heroes is a brilliant charity and does some amazing work." Donations so far exceed £300, and organisers hope to raise more than £1,000.

The cyclists will be shaded from the sun, or rain, by an Army tent donated by 33 Engineer Regiment at Carver Barracks in Wimbish, which will be decorated with 300 balloons, bunting, flags and a TV screen with a short video about the work of the charity.

Organisers hope the public will continue to be supportive and generous. Richard said: "We know that the armed forces are a big recruiter in and around Haverhill. We hope as many local people as possible will come down to support the cyclists throughout the day and night."

Help for Heroes raises funds for a rehabilitation centre for injured British soldiers from the Army, Navy and RAF. A recent bike ride for the charity raised £1 million and made headlines across the country. More information on the charity can be found at www.helpforheroes.org.uk

Long wait over for new sport pavilion

FORMER Ipswich Town and England footballer Kevin Beattie cut the ribbon to officially open a new sports pavilion in Clare.

The opening of the facilities on the Cavendish Road playing field marked the end of four years' hard work for the Clare Playing Field Association, which received supported from the Clare Parish Council when it started to pursue funding for a new pavilion.

They first met in June 2006 with representatives of the Football Foundation and have since earned support from St Edmundsbury Borough Council and Friends of the Playing Field Association.

John Martin, chairman of Clare Playing Field Association, officiated at the opening. Guests included Football Foundation, borough council and parish council representatives.

After the opening there was an exhibition of junior football by Clare Town Lions involving under eight and 12, along with an exhibition of training involving Town Lions and qualified FA coaches. Members of the public were invited to view the changing and referees rooms along with kitchen and social room.

Mr Martin said: "The association has enjoyed considerable support from so many people for which they express their sincere thanks."

Gold and bronze medal efforts from Rangers

GOLD and bronze Duke of Edinburgh awards have been presented to Ranger Guides in Kedington. Sarah Kelly and Christine Wigmore have earned their gold awards, while Lisa Perrett, Sarah Sprigg and Kirsty Ashman received with their bronze awards. To earn the awards, members of 1st Kedington Rangers had to meet skill, service, physical recreation and an expedition requirements. Members had to hike 15 miles over two days for the bronze award and 50 miles over four days for the gold, carry everything they required on their backs.

For the gold, the pair also had to undertake a "residential" project. Sarah did hers in Kenya, helping to build a nursery and also building furniture for the local school there. Christine did hers at the Guide Chalet in Switzerland where she helped in the kitchen during the week that the Rangers stayed there. Sarah has already been to St James' Palace to receive her gold award from the Duke of Edinburgh, and Christine will collect hers in October. Also on the presentation evening, Emma Norden, Jessica Waller Katrina Williams and Jasmine Wells were invested into the unit.

Healthy marks for county's residents

SUFFOLK residents live longer and are healthier than the rest of their English counterparts, according to the latest figures.

The county's health profile shows early deaths from cancer, smoking, heart disease and stroke are all below the national average and have decreased over the past decade. But the statistics, which provide a snapshot of health for each local authority in England, also show there are still areas for improvement in the county with obesity and lack of physical activity at the top of the list.

The profile shows that one in four of the county's adults smoke, one in six binge drink and one in four is obese. Only one in every nine adults is physically active and one in four eats healthily.

And while people living in most areas of the county can expect to live longer than the national average, there are also still some areas, such as Ipswich, which show levels of deprivation.

Dr Peter Bradley, director of public health with Suffolk Primary Care Trust (PCT), said: "Suffolk's health profile shows that, in general, people's health is good. However, we cannot afford to be complacent as issues such as obesity and inactivity are still a problem."

"One of the PCT's major roles is to improve the health and wellbeing of the population, and we spearhead a range of initiatives to educate people and encourage them to follow a healthy lifestyle. These include giving advice on healthy eating and exercise and running smoking cessation clinics."

He added said: "There is variation in the health profiles across Suffolk and some communities may need more support to bring them in line with the rest of the county."

Go-ahead for plan to pipe out water

PLANS for an underground pipeline across Suffolk's countryside – which will deliver water to meet rising demands in Essex – has been approved.

Councillors gave it the green light after receiving assurances that it will not do long-term damage to the environment.

Northumbrian Water Ltd applied to St Edmundsbury Borough Council for permission to build the pipeline from Kirtling Green to Wixoe. Members of the council's development control committee were told that while some disruption would be caused during construction, once completed it would be unseen and would not affect local river flows or flood risks.

BY Jo Deeks

Email: editorial@haverhillweeklynews.co.uk

Compounds will be created at Wixoe and on the A143 near Gramplan Foods during its development, but construction traffic will be barred from travelling through Wixoe.

Cllr John Tipper, of Great Thurlow Parish Council, said members were in favour of the scheme, but were concerned about the impact on the upper River Stour, which had already suffered the loss of wildlife, such as kingfishers, in recent years because of huge variations in water levels and damage to river banks.

Cllr Tipper said: "Additional water flow has been useful to keep this river running, but is it going to continue to give us some kind of flow once this pipeline is in operation. That is our concern."

A spokesman for Northumbrian Water said the pipeline would not affect water levels in the River Stour, and the firm would continue to create additional flow there to benefit the river when it had the capacity to do so.

Changes to complex on the cards

A PLANNING application has been made to convert a sheltered housing complex into general needs flats once the rest of its elderly residents have been re-housed.

The plan for Horace Eves Close in Withersfield Road, Haverhill, which has been submitted to St Edmundsbury Borough Council, also includes some flats adapted for people with disabilities.

It also includes plans for one central access point to the site and a revised car parking layout, reducing the number of spaces from 24 to 17.

School sails away with top prize

PRIMARY school pupils will be able to enjoy a break from the sun in their playground this summer after winning a shade sail.

Clare Community Primary School was the lucky winner of the Able Shade Sail competition and collected a £4,000 commercial grade shade sail, designed and installed by the company.

The sail will give the pupils protection from UV rays from the sun and is also shower and hail resistant to give additional cover from the weather. Headteacher Joan Horner was delighted with the news it had won the competition. "We didn't believe at first that we had won."

Able Canopies asked the school to pick the colour of the shade sail cloth it wanted, ideally to suit the school and its surroundings. After much consideration they chose a lime green coloured cloth, which matched some colours they already had at the school. A team of fitters installed the shade sail during the school's term-time and school opening hours. Mrs Horner said: "It really suits the school's surroundings and the children think it's just wonderful." The shade sail was erected in the school's quiet zone and covers almost half of the area.

■ PROTECTION... headteacher Joan Horner is congratulated on the win by director of Able Canopies, Mark Wood.

From Brief Encounters to round-the-world action

AN ALL-TIME classic of British cinema Brief Encounter (PG) is showing on Monday at 1.30pm. Celia Johnson and Trevor Howard star in this story of an impossible love kindled in a railway station waiting room. David Lean's 1945 classic depicts the repressed life of housewife Laura who visits town once a week to shop and catch a film matinee. On one such excursion, she accidentally meets Alec and life is never the same again. Just in time for the summer holidays, all action archaeologist Indiana Jones returns for another globetrotting trek 25 years after his first adventure. Indiana Jones and the Kingdom of the Crystal Skull (12A) is undoubtedly the blockbuster of the summer, if not the year, and boasts an all-star cast including Harrison

Ford, Cate Blanchett and Shia LaBeouf. It plays from Tuesday to Friday, July 25, Monday, July 28, and Wednesday, July 30, at various times. Our other film for the week is Nim's Island (U), starring Jodie Foster, Abigail Breslin and Gerald Butler. Nim lives on a tropical island and is left to fend for herself after her dad goes missing. Realising she needs help, she begins to email the author of her favourite stories and soon gains inspiration from her literary hero. Showing on Wednesday at 11am, Thursday, July 24, at 2.30pm and Friday, July 25 at 11am. Treat the kids to a trip to the cinema and some treats from the Tuck Shop! ■ For more details, or to book tickets, phone (01440) 714140 or go to www.haverhillartscentre.co.uk (01440) 714140.

Complex play

GREEK tragedy Oedipus Rex comes to the Loper Chapel on Newmarket Road, Cambridge, from Wednesday to Saturday, July 26, at 8pm. In Situ theatre group, which specialises in putting on plays in unusual locations, is staging Sophocles' classic tragedy in the historic building.

"When we put on a performance, we work on it for at least a year, in the case of Oedipus Rex a year and a half," says director Richard Spaul. "It's a very committed process, not normally achievable either by amateurs or professionals. I believe this high level of commitment gives our work a level of power and ambition that is not often seen elsewhere." Tickets are £9-£11. To book call (01223) 511511.

Punk buffaloes

FIVE local bands will be making a psychedelic punk racket at Cambridge City FC's ground on Milton Road on Thursday, July 24. Except the General and The Buffalo Club will be joined by Born to Destruct, The Claim and Cosy Cosy. Tickets are £4 on the door.

Festival's eclectic mix of jazz and ukuleles

By Nik Shelton

THE Cambridge Summer Music Festival kicked off this week and runs until August 8 with a packed programme of evening concerts, lunchtime recitals and family fun.

It starts with a concert at the Corn Exchange by comic musical troupe the Ukulele Orchestra of Great Britain who interpret everything from the Sex Pistols to Tchaikovsky using only the little four stringed instrument.

Also appearing throughout the festival will be young cello star Natalie Clein, Renowned UK violinist Tasmin Little, Singapore-born international pianist Melvyn Tan and many others.

Jazz singer Jacqui Dankworth will be performing at Childerley Hall near Bourn on Saturday, July 26. The daughter of two bona fide UK jazz legends Cleo Laine and John Dankworth originally wanted to follow a career as an actress, and appeared with the Royal Shakespeare Company before following in her mum's footsteps to become an acclaimed singer. She said: "Acting gives you confidence to carry yourself and to tell a story, I certainly think about the lyrics and imagine I'm a character when I'm singing." Her ability to bring her thespian talents into her music means she is able to bring to her singing a deeper emotional depth, and is a method she tries to pass onto a new generation of singers during her regular workshops. "There're lots of singers who try to sound like a 'jazz singer' and that's a mistake, once you try to sing like someone else it doesn't work, you've got to tell your own story and find your own voice – that's what I tell people. "It's taken me a while to find my voice but because I came from an acting background I try to tell a story and I can only do that by drawing on my own experience. "I'm constantly telling singers, if you're singing a love song imagine who you are singing it too. Billie Holiday did it and Ella Fitzgerald did it." ■ Visit www.cambridgesummermusic.com for the full festival programme. To book tickets for any event call (01223) 357851.

■ STRING THINGS... the Ukulele Orchestra of Great Britain will be opening the Cambridge Summer Music Festival on Friday.

You're about to assume a more public profile at work. People respond to your warmth and generosity. In return, you expect the team's unwavering loyalty. If someone proposes an adventure, accept immediately. You could use a little excitement.

Putting too much emphasis on material things is getting in the way of a close relationship. You can't put a price on love. Encourage somebody to take a chance. Going on a long trip, publishing a book, or going back to school are possible.

Don't overanalyse a relationship. There are some gifts in life you just need to accept with open arms and a thankful heart. If you suspect your partner of having ulterior motives, you'll throw trust out the window. If you're single, you won't be for long.

Doing a job all by yourself isn't realistic. Acting like you don't need anyone else will alienate you from others. It's especially important to consider the needs of a partner. Letting this person wait on you will be a welcome change of pace.

Forcing a friend to keep an old promise will only torment them. Relax your standards and leave them free to have a good time. You may have to do more than your fair share of work, but it's oddly gratifying. It's a good outlet for restless energy.

Grammy-winning guitar
master plays the blues

■ ON TOUR... Robert Cray with his band.

BLUES guitar legend
Robert Cray comes to the Corn Exchange,
Cambridge, on Monday.
The 54 year old has been ploughing his own furrow in soulful blues music for more than three decades now and during that time he has won five Grammys and played with the likes of Eric Clapton,
The Rolling Stones, BB King,
Muddy Waters, John Lee
Hooker and Chuck Berry.
He grew up in Georgia and formed his first band in 1974 when he took inspiration from the UK blues rock bands like Fleetwood Mac, Jethro Tull and The Faces.
The sounds of Motown and Stax records also infected his style and he began a heavy global touring schedule which hasn't let up since.
Coming back to the UK is always a trip he relishes and he is quick to pay tribute to the important role it played in the history of the blues.
He says: "The UK was very important, it brought the music back to America. The blues is one of the world's great musical forms and the UK brought it back to life and brought people like Muddy

By Nik Shelton

Waters and Howlin' Wolf back to the forefront.
"America has this tendency to put something out there and then throw it in the trash after five minutes."
The music industry is currently realigning itself to a new model, in which records sell few copies and most money is made by touring.
But for a seasoned showman like Robert that hasn't been such a tough transition to make.
He said: "We did have a time when we sold a lot of records
- now nobody's selling many records but we're still touring.
"I worry like everybody else.
The whole industry has changed in the sense that albums are almost non existent anymore. An artist can release an album of work and the buyer might just go for one part of it.
"But you've still got to go out and prove yourself, even more so nowadays in fact. It's a challenge and I enjoy it."
■ Robert Cray plays the Cambridge Corn Exchange on Monday with tickets priced £27.50.

A great shelter from the heat and unpredictable showers

THE British Summer is a glorious but unpredictable thing, and many a time will we have huddled inside for a barbecue when the weather has turned grim.

Slipping cocktails and eating outside can still be do-able with an awning in place – providing shade from the heat or shelter from summer showers. Aside from these obvious benefits, an awning can also serve to safeguard carpets and soft furnishings from fading without having to draw curtains and lose natural light.

Luxaflex provide a selection of awnings available in a number of models, sizes and colours.

They are made from solution dyed acrylic fibre which is guaranteed not to rot, shrink, twist or fade.

Retail prices start from as little as £295.00.

Save money – get your car MoT-ready

MOTORISTS are being urged to save money in these expensive times by thoroughly checking their cars before submitting them for the annual MoT.

That's the sound advice for used car owners from John Haynes, who heads up the famous car DIY manual publishing house.

"It takes very little time to check a car over before submitting it for an MoT test," Haynes says.

"Basic faults, such as lights not working, worn wiper blades, and insufficient tyre tread depth can easily be sorted out before the yearly test.

"This is invariably cheaper than having your car fail the MoT."

Haynes' advice is backed by recently released figures from the Vehicle and Operator Services Agency (VOSA), gained by the Institute of Advanced Motorists' Trust, which show that first-time MoT failure rates in the UK are higher than those in other European countries.

According to VOSA figures, 21.6 per cent of vehicles failed a MoT in 2007, with more than 271,000 of those failures due to lighting faults.

Haynes says some of the simpler, pre-MoT checks that any motorists can carry out include:

■ From the driver's seat, test the handbrake, footbrake, steering wheel, and column for correct operation and excessive play.

■ Still in the driver's seat, check that the windscreen is free of cracks or damage.

■ Now check that door latches work, and that all seatbelts are in good condition and fasten properly.

■ Moving to outside the car, check that wiper blades are in good condition, and that the lights, indicators, and horn all work.

■ The wheels and tyres should be inspected thoroughly, too. Wheels should not be damaged and tyres free of cuts, tears, lumps, or bulges. The 1.6mm depth over at least three-quarters of the tyre tread width is the current legal requirement.

■ Finally, clean the car thoroughly inside and out, and on the underside if at all possible. The tester can refuse to examine a car that is filthy underneath.

Meanwhile, there's been a lot of media interest in the expensive end of the classic car market this year, says leading trade price guide publisher EurotaxGlass's – even though overall sales have been relatively subdued.

The experts at Glass's Guide say that although there have been much-hyped stories of top celebrities paying record prices for classic models, general sales activity within this sector of the market has been much slower.

Reports that radio DJ and former TV presenter Chris Evans paid just over £5.6 million for a black 1961 Ferrari 250 GT SWB California Spider caused a stir in May.

"This hype, however, has not been reflected in the buying trends among the general public," says John Glynn, older-car editor at EurotaxGlass's.

"The tightening of financial belts and a lack of practicality is putting some potential customers off buying."

Consumer Advice - A Pet is a Lifetime Commitment

Never Buy On Impulse

Dogs and Cats can live 15-20 years. Rabbits can live 7-10 years or longer.

Will you be there for them - through marriage, divorce, having babies, moving house and holidays away?

Have you considered:

- Do you have the time to give your pet the exercise, mental stimulation, training and attention it needs?
- Dogs and cats cost around £500-£1000 a year to keep.
- If this is a pet for the children, who will look after the animal when the children leave home?

Note: Under the Animal Welfare Act 2006 a pet owner has a legal duty to ensure the welfare of his animal(s).

If you decide to buy a pet we would always recommend the following:

- Please consider contacting your local animal rescue/rehoming centre. There are thousands of healthy, loving animals all over the UK who need a home.
- Research before you buy. Be sure you understand the needs of the pet you are interested in. Check that your lifestyle and environment suit the animal.
- When buying kittens and puppies, insist on seeing the mother with the litter. Check that the facilities are clean and the animals appear alert and healthy. You should be able to handle them freely under supervision. Make sure your chosen pet is old enough to leave its mother.
- Ensure that the animal you are buying is healthy and free from signs of injury or disease. Always ask for a copy of its medical records including vaccination certificate and records of worming and flea treatment.
- Be prepared to wait: the right pet is worth waiting for!

Tom has a bright future – Stewart

ALEC Stewart has tipped Weston Colville-based Tom Westley to follow in his footsteps and play test cricket for England.

Speaking on a visit to Cambridge this week, the ex-England captain has heard all about the young batsman, who plays club cricket for Saffron Walden, from his friend and Essex coach Graham Gooch, and is predicting a bright future for the teenager.

Stewart, the former Surrey wicket-keeper said of Westley, who has already captained England at Under-19 level: "I know of Tom through Graham, who I speak to lots, and he's spoken very well of him."

"He's certainly a name for the future and he's got to establish himself and play consistently well for Essex."

"If he can, then all his ambitions, which I assume are to play for England, can be fulfilled."

SWIMMING

It's a labour of love for Bircher

ALAN Bircher's foray into coaching has begun well after his girlfriend Stefanie Biller finished third in her opening Women's Marathon Swimming World Cup race.

The Haverhill athlete is guiding his German partner through the five-event competition and she completed the course in Italy in a time of 8hr 4min. Biller finished behind winner and compatriot Britta Kamrau and Russia's Natalya Pankina.

Bircher said: "I had expected a top-five finish and now we can focus on moving through the next few races and improving Stefanie's ranking."

YOUTH SPORT

■ THREE CHEERS . . . Members of the triumphant St Edmundsbury basketball team at the Suffolk Youth Games. CP.

Youngsters give a Saintly show

AROUND 1,000 young people representing Suffolk's sporting future converged on Northgate Sports Centre in Ipswich for the ninth Suffolk Youth Games. Fingers were crossed that the team from St Edmundsbury, who were sponsored by Haverhill Town Council, could do themselves proud and come out on top against the other six districts. The competition in the 10 sports on offer was of a very high standard throughout the day with the youngsters showing great skill as well as a high commitment to fair play and sportsmanship. Despite a day of heavy showers and high winds, the children continued to compete and credit must go to them for showing great spirit throughout the day in all the outdoor sports in particular. Waveney emerged as the champions for the fourth consecutive year, although St Edmundsbury ran them close and missed out on top-spot by the narrow margin of six points. Their fine performance was based on consistent success in all events, especially the athletics, basketball and boys' hockey competitions, in which they picked up the gold medals. This was followed by silver in the table tennis and girls' football, where they were beaten on penalties by Waveney. Team St Edmundsbury did achieve some success, however, by being the joint winners of the Fair Play Award, which was a great reward for the sportsmanship and spirit displayed by the youngsters

CRICKET ROUND-UP

It's Wilko and out in Haverhill's whitewash

MARTYN Wilkins claimed a five-wicket haul to steer Haverhill to a massive 10-wicket triumph against Kelvedon in Division Two of the Marshall Hatchick Two Counties Championship on Saturday.

The bowler took 5 for 44 and vice-captain Simon Youngs and Joe Woodley claimed two wickets each as the visitors were all out for 114.

And openers Neil Winter (58 not out) and Scott Webb (53 not out) carried their bats to lead Haverhill to 118 without loss. Youngs said: "That's three wins on the trot now and we've gone third in the table, so we couldn't be any more confident."

■ Adam Taylor's rapid half-century counted for nothing as Weston Colville lost at home to Waresley in a rain-affected Tucker Gardner Cambs and Hunts Premier League, Division Two clash.

Adie Westley's hosts amassed 198 for 6 thanks to Taylor's blistering 79, which contained eight boundaries and six maximums.

Laurence Boshier and Nigel Buckingham-Jones, who both took 2 for 53, were the pick of Waresley's bowlers.

Westley then took 3 for 45, but the efforts of Simon Blows (40), Daniel Szwajbak (33 not out) and Chris Asque (32 not out) steered the visitors to their revised target of 183 with six wickets down.

■ Horseheath found Doddington's Kiran Brahmhatt too hot to handle as they went down by four wickets in their Cheffins CCA Senior League, Division One match on Saturday.

Brahmbhatt made a rapid 60 to help the home side end their seven-game losing streak.

Doddington were up against it after Horseheath had amassed 203 for 9, with Robbie Ketteridge (60) and Dan Goldsmith (29) top-scoring for Gary Ellis' outfit.

James Fountain bowled economically for Doddington, taking two wickets.

Antony Bamford's men began well in reply thanks to Brahmhatt's explosive knock, and Matthew Bamford added 47 as they reached 205 for 6 with an over to spare.

Ellis, whose troops currently reside in fifth place in the table, said: "We didn't do a lot wrong – they just batted very well and Brahmhatt made the difference."

"If we'd won then we'd be handsomely second and charging down on Babraham at the top, but we can't complain and it's still very tight."

FOOTBALL

■ DEBUT BOY... Former Cambridge United defender Michael Morrison got his first taste of action for his new club, Leicester City, at Hinckley on Saturday.

I've no worries about stepping up – Morrison

MICHAEL Morrison believes he is the perfect recruit for Leicester City. The 20-year-old central defender, who arrived at the Walkers Stadium from Cambridge United earlier this month, said: "When I spoke to Nigel Pearson, the manager, he said he wanted young, hungry players at the football club and I feel I've served my apprenticeship at Cambridge United."

The Haverhill youngster, who moved to the Foxes from the Trade Recruitment Stadium for an undisclosed fee, added: "This is a massive opportunity for me. I want to work hard, push on with my career and be successful." Morrison, who made more than 100 appearances in the U's colours, said he had no concerns about rising from the Blue Square Premier to Coca-Cola League One level.

"The Blue Square is a full-time league, so I don't think it's the big step-up that a lot of people think," he said. Morrison made his debut in the Foxes colours when he came on for the second half of their pre-season friendly at Hinckley on Saturday and helped his new team to a 5-4 victory.

The Leicester players have spent this week at a five-day training camp in Slovenia as they prepare for the new season, during which they will be bidding to regain the place in the Coca-Cola Championship they surrendered with relegation last team.
